

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Preface	9
Introduction	13
Part I – The ‘Xenia’	35
1. ‘Una nuova grammatica’: The Nature of the ‘Xenia’	37
2. The Importance of English and North American Poetry	44
3. The ‘Xenia’ and Contemporary Italian Poetry	54
4. The ‘Xenia’ and Natalia Ginzburg’s Lessico famigliare	60
Part II – ‘Satura I’ and ‘Satura II’	77
1. The Novelty of ‘Satura I’ and ‘Satura II’	79
2. From Vittorio Sereni’s Gli strumenti umani to Satura	84
3. ‘Satura I’, ‘Satura II’ and Satirical Verse	104
(i) Christian Morgenstern, Canti grotteschi	106
(ii) Poesia satirica nell’Italia d’oggi	109
(iii) The Poetry of Nelo Risi	117
4. History and Karl Löwith’s Critica dell’esistenza storica	133
5. ‘Satura I’, ‘Satura II’ and Andrea Zanzotto’s La Beltà	143
6. Beyond ‘Satura I’ and ‘Satura II’	158
Part III – Further Intertextual Echoes in Satura and the Later Poetry	163
1. Echoes from Italo Calvino’s Fiction	166
2. Further Intertextual Echoes	186
(i) Luciano Erba, Il male minore	187
(ii) Giovanni Giudici, La vita in versi and Autobiologia	188
(iii) Antonio Barolini, L’ultima contessa di famiglia	193
(iv) Sergio Solmi, Dal balcone	198
(v) Umberto Eco, Apocalittici e integrati	200
Conclusion	203
Bibliography	215
Index	231